CONNECTING PEOPLE & JOBS

Supporting Military
Families &
Veterans
in Flexible Careers

“A veteran or someone in the active military is a perfect match for online jobs. They’re very punctual and understand how to deal with problems as they arise using the chain-of-command.”

– Will Yarborough, Texas National Guardsman & Digital Works graduate

Going Beyond Training & Placement

Developed by Connected Nation to meet the growing demand for online workers, this one-of-kind job-creation program goes beyond training and placement to long-term career guidance and mentorship.

All of the jobs are remote and are in fields that are in demand — providing employment opportunities that are both flexible and can move with you when needed.

This makes Digital Works a jobs program perfectly fit for the unique needs of veterans and military spouses.

Supporting Military Spouses – “Home” is where the military sends you!

As a military spouse, we know you are serving too. But being in a military family brings with it some unique challenges — especially when it comes to finding and keeping a job through the various moves and base assignments

Digital Works now makes it possible to get a flexible job you love — and take it with you when and wherever duty calls next. Our training and mentoring is designed for quick job placement, typically within a 4–8 week cycle with a conservative placement rate of 80%!

“Thanks to Digital Works, my mom and I have secured jobs in the workforce where we can devote our time to working at home. From here, we can just keep growing our careers. It’s very exciting.”

– Amanda Mitchell
Digital Works graduate

Veterans

It takes a certain kind of person to serve — someone who is committed, a problem-solver, and able to adapt to and overcome new challenges. These are just some of the soft and life skills learned in the military that make most veterans a perfect match for the modern workforce.

Digital Works has established relationships with more than 70 employers across the country and customizes its training so YOU are learning the skills companies are searching for in employees.

“It gives you a chance to see where you’re at, brush up on your skills, and obtain new skills. That’s very important, because these days, the workforce is always changing.”

– Nakia Carter
Digital Works graduate

Active Military

Digital Works is also an option if YOU are serving part time. It can provide a way to work in a more flexible setting while fulfilling your duty to country — abroad and at home. It is something Digital Works graduate and National Guardsman Will Yarborough understands.
